Atlanta, November 14, 2008 – GlobalCare Inc. is continuing its active participation Georgia healthcare public policy as an active member of the Georgia Society of Professional Benefit Administrators, Inc (GSPBA); as we feel strongly that the GSPBA is a lucid voice for a rational healthcare system. GlobalCare believes strongly in a healthcare system that provides choice, flexibility and a balance between the delivery of appropriate care and cost control.

GlobalCare supports initiatives to increase transparency of information available to consumers to aid them in making health care decisions; information to assist patients and payers in making decisions based on cost and quality, while preserving the rights of organizations to keep competitive business information confidential.

GlobalCare supports initiatives to increase transparency of information available to providers to aid them in resolving confusion, lowering administrative costs, and identifying inappropriate access to provider services and discounts. GlobalCare supports the provision of information to providers or their billing offices to ensure that third parties have gained access only to the extent that access has been granted to them by valid and binding contractual terms.

GlobalCare recognizes that all entities in the health care system – payers, providers, and vendors represent diverse technologies and that the migration to standardized, interoperable technologies that facilitate appropriate information sharing and disclosure will require a focus on standards and a rational balance of outcomes, timeframes and costs.

Transparency can only be achieved through the commitment of and partnership between governments, payers, health care organizations, and providers. This partnership will result in better quality, more efficient, and more transparent health care processes.
